

In poker, players are dealt cards and place bets based on the strength of their hands. The goal is to form the best hand or bluff opponents into folding. Rounds of betting occur as community cards are revealed. The player with the strongest hand at showdown, or the last remaining player after all others fold, wins the pot.